

Amethyst Blac814

I have been offering my writing and digital creative services for over 14 years, and I just recently established my brand name, Amethyst Blac814. My expertise lies in technical writing, blogging, article writing, web content writing, product description writing, and content updating and rewriting.

I want to clarify that I haven't worked in a physical setting for the past 14 years due to a previously undiagnosed illness, which has since been resolved. As a result, I will provide a general overview of my online freelance work, skills, and knowledge instead of specific references.

EXPERIENCE

Technical Writing—Online, freelance

Jan 1999-present

I draft instructional pages, training manuals, and standard operating procedures. In addition, I write web content, product descriptions, and more.

SEO Blog Writing (Blogging)—Online, freelance

2007-present

I am proficient in various blogging roles, such as guest blogging, ghostwriting, and regular blogging. Additionally, I can fill in for a writer who is on vacation. I cover lifestyle topics, travel, food and drink, metaphysical matters, education, history, cultural lenses, crystals, herbs, magick, etc. What you get is SEO-aligned, no fluff, engaging content.

SEO Article/Website Content Writing—Online, freelance

2007-present

I write on a virtually unlimited range of topics. My research is thorough. Hence, the deliverable is concisely written, illuminating, and search-friendly.

Image Design, Montage, and Collage Work—Online, freelance

2007-present

I use compilation tools to design images and don't use Photoshop. My style is montage-based; you often see it in various image-related areas like flyers, business cards, and T-shirts. I can remove backgrounds and blemishes and add in text, logos, and emojis. My image work can be applied to various purposes, including brochures, flyers, MP4 informational clips, and more.

Web Pages and Graphics—Online, freelance

2007-present

If any of your web pages feel bland and blah, I can create one or more great new pages for you to add to your site. The sky's the limit for what one can look like.